Stevens Denies 'Covering Up' For the Army

Secretary's Protest Is Directed at McCarthy's Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens denied today that he would "cover up" for anybody who might mishandle cases of subversion in the Army.

"I want to make it clear that I'm not covering up for anybody at anytime," he told Senate investigators.

Stevens' flareup came during the eighth day of the Senate investigation subcommittee's inquiry into the Army-McCarthy charges and counter-charges.

The Army secretary's protest was directed at McCarthy who, he said, had repeatedly charged the Army with "covering up."

The Wisconsin Republican also has accused Stevens with trying to impede investigations of subversives in the Army.

One phase of McCarthy's questioning of Stevens involved the honorable discharge of Maj. Irving Peress, an Army dentist described as a "Fifth Amendment communist" by the Wisconsin senator.

Other Highlights

It was interrupted frequently by legalistic wrangles in which subcommittee counsel Ray H. Jenkins insisted that the present investigation could not pass on the merits of the Peress case.

The eighth day of testimony produced these other highlights:

1. Stevens asserted he cannot recall ever notifying McCarthy that he was awaiting only the senator's approval before removing Maj. Gen. Kirke B. Lawton as commander of Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

2. The secretary said he has no information to back up some news dispatches which stated that Pvt. G. David Schine enjoyed filet mignon and champagne at the Stork Club in New York when he should have been "peeling potatoes" at Ft. Dix, N. J., during basic training last November.

3. Stevens insisted he could not recall having asked that McCarthy's Ft. Monmouth investigation of alleged Communist espionage at the New Jersey radar laboratories be stopped. He has testified before that he did want McCarthy to suspend his investigation so the Army could make its own inquiry.

4. Special Army counsel Joseph N. Welch offered to let the lagging hearings be wound up with testimony by Stevens, McCarthy, and perhaps a couple of other witnesses. Welch made the offer during a 20-minute subcommittee discussion of how to expedite the investigation. McCarthy, however, said he could not tell at this stage how many witnesses his side will call.

McCarthy asked if Army counsel John G. Adams had not telephoned an order for Peress' discharge. Adams is a major target of McCarthy's charges and one of the parties to the investigation.

"No, I don't recall that at all," Stevens said, adding that "Mr. Adams would have had no right to order a discharge."

McCarthy said Peress accepted a discharge the day after the Wisconsin senator urged a court martial trial for him. He asked again if Stevens knew who ordered the discharge.

Stevens replied he did not but expected to find the answer in the inspector general's report, expected to come "at any time" and to be available before the current hearings end.

Recover One Body from River Near Cave-in-Rock

CAVE-IN-ROCK, Ill. (AP)—The body of Charles Reynolds, 22, of Mill Shoals was recovered Saturday from the Ohio River.

Reynolds and three other fishermen were drowned near here Friday night when their boat filled with water and sank.

The other victims were David Conway, 25, Fairfield; Ray Merritt, 32, of near Fairfield; and Johnny Hollinger, 13, Mill Shoals. Guy Parrish, 27, Fairfield, was the lone survivor.

The rented boat was reported sighted near the government dam at Golconda but has not yet been recovered. Dragging operations are being carried on to recover the remaining bodies.

GOP Leaders Predict Speed By Congress

By United Press

Republican congressional leaders predicted today a burst of "surprising" legislative speed in the next 30 days.

Senate GOP Leaders William F. Knowland (Calif.) and Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. were confident the Congress will show an "excellent batting average" on President Eisenhower's program by the adjournment target date in July.

The leaders made the optimistic statements after informing Mr. Eisenhower of the status of major legislation.

Knowland again repeated the Army-McCarthy hearings have not delayed any administration bills. However, during the Senate hearings today members of the investigating subcommittee complained the hearings were dragging on and they weren't able to get to other important work.

Other late news:

Briefing: Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will brief Democratic and Republican congressional leaders later this week on the Geneva conference on Indochina and Korea. Dulles returns this week and probably will meet with the congressional leaders of both parties Thursday.

Reclamation: A House interior subcommittee approved, 12-9, a bill to authorize the one-billion-dollar Upper Colorado reclamation project. It includes the controversial Echo Park dam in the Dinosaur National Monument in western Colorado.

Taft-Hartley: Debate on Taft-Hartley labor law amendments, expected to be extensive and acrimonious, opened in the Senate. Democrats in the Senate Labor committee voted against the administration bill.

Dr. Archie Brown To Address Baptist Brotherhood

Dr. Archie E. Brown, pastor of the First Baptist church in Vandalia, will be the guest speaker tonight at the Saline Association Brotherhood. This meeting is to be held in the sanctuary of the McKinley Avenue Baptist church at 7 p. m.

Dr. Brown is a native of Harrisburg and was ordained to the Baptist ministry here in the First Baptist church. He served the Old Salem, Muddy and Stonefort Baptist churches as pastor before moving to Fort Worth, Texas, in 1941. In Fort Worth he attended Texas Wesleyan college and Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. He was graduated with the Bachelor of Arts and Doctor of Divinity degrees.

While in Texas Dr. Brown taught six years in Texas Wesleyan college and served as pastor of the Greenwood Baptist church. He returned to Illinois in December of 1950 to become pastor of the First Baptist church in Pinckneyville, and he has recently become pastor of the First Baptist church in Vandalia.

Dr. Brown is the son of Mrs. A. J. Cook, who resides on Sloan street in this city. Walter J. Brown, proprietor of Brownie's Cleaners, is his brother. Another brother, Robert, also lives with his mother.

The public is cordially invited to attend the Brotherhood meeting tonight at the McKinley Avenue Baptist church.

Youth Questioned About Break-In

A local youth was to be questioned further today about a break-in at the Jim Bolen home several weeks ago. He was arrested yesterday following an investigation by City Policeman Pat Atkinson, who turned him over to county authorities. Some loot was found, Atkinson's report stated.

Mrs. Howell Lewis, 43, is Fatally Injured as Truck Hits Power Pole

Husband Hurt in Crash Which Occurs Near Their Home

Ruth Lewis, 43, was fatally injured early yesterday when the pickup truck she was driving hit a power pole near her home three miles west of Stonefort and her husband, Howell Lewis, 53, is in the Lightner hospital here suffering chest injuries received in the crash.

Lewis told Coroner Elmer M. Gibbons that his wife apparently lost control of the truck as it went down a hill on the gravel road. The Lewis home, near where the crash occurred, is in Williamson county on a Creal Springs rural route.

Gibbons read a statement by Lewis at the inquest into his wife's death held at the Thornton funeral home in Stonefort, where the body was taken. The verdict was that Mrs. Lewis died in an accident caused by a truck coming in contact with a high-line pole three miles west of Stonefort.

Lewis told Coroner Elmer M. Gibbons that his wife apparently lost control of the truck as it went down a hill on the gravel road. The Lewis home, near where the crash occurred, is in Williamson county on a Creal Springs rural route.

Storms Hit Mississippi Valley Areas

49 Tornadoes, Torrential Rains Leave 27 Dead

By United Press

A vicious storm front rolled toward the Atlantic Coast today after hitting the Mississippi Valley during the weekend with 49 tornadoes, torrential rains, and a weird May blizzard.

The storm left at least 27 persons dead, including eight in Mississippi, five in Nebraska, four in Oklahoma and Illinois, three in Minnesota, two in Missouri and one in Louisiana.

Oklahoma alone counted 20 tornadoes Saturday with two persons killed and 46 injured. Among the towns battered by twisters were Grandfield, Shawnee, Stroud, Meeker, Pawnee, Tipton, Dale, Davenport, Big Spring, Snyder and Sparks.

Fifty homes were demolished at Meeker. Eighteen persons were injured in a path 35 miles long and a mile wide between Shawnee and Stroud.

Heavy downpours throughout the Mississippi Valley caused sharp flooding in many areas. A 13-year old girl drowned when she was swept into a flooded creek near Minco, Okla., and a 21-year old youth was drowned when his horse threw him into rain-swollen Squall Creek near Cardin.

Mississippi Swells

Snow fell over most of Minnesota and part of the Dakotas Saturday. It reached a depth of seven inches at many points and a small-scale blizzard developed at Bemidji, Minn.

Roads were treacherous in the snow area and many of the storm victims lost their lives on slick highways or in poor visibility.

Temperatures plummeted as the storm swept eastward. Below freezing temperatures were recorded at many northern cities.

The Mississippi was swelling toward a crest 2 1/2 feet above flood stage at Aitkin, Minn., and the Chippewa river in Wisconsin was 5 1/2 feet above flood.

Fifteen families were forced from their homes at Eau Claire, Wis., and five more at Durand.

The rising Chippewa river trapped two families in the Careyville, Wis., area and two amphibious Army craft were ordered to try to rescue them today.

New tornadoes struck Sunday in an area from Texas north to Iowa and east to Mansfield, Ohio, where two "baby" funnels were sighted within 10 minutes of each other.

Union Official Hits Policies of Nixon and Dulles

SIoux CITY, Iowa (AP)—Ralph Helstein, president of the CIO United Packinghouse Workers of America, said today Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles have "recklessly" put the United States "on the brink of war."

He spoke to about 600 delegates from this country, Canada and Puerto Rico at the opening of the union's week-long ninth constitutional convention here.

He also urged the union to begin crusading immediately for a shorter work week and accused Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) of the "crass offense" of using his political position to seek favored treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine.

Helstein sharply criticized the State Department's handling of the Indochina crisis.

"It is difficult to conceive," he said, "how Secretary of State Dulles and Vice President Nixon can be so reckless as to bring us to the brink of war without a program which can possibly win to our side the people of these countries."

"This is the product of sheer blindness," he asked.

Helstein also pointed to "mounting unemployment figures" and "a growing trend toward job losses" through technological changes and plant modernization.

Because of these two factors, he said, "the time to introduce a shorter work week is now."

He ridiculed descriptions of the business slump as "a corrective process."

"We see nothing corrective about 3 1/2 million unemployed workers," he said.

"We see nothing corrective in a farm picture that shows a drop in farmers' net cash income of about 10 1/2 per cent in 1953 with another drop of 13 per cent for 1954 estimated by the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank."

"In this year of congressional elections," he said, "we are given an opportunity to undo some of the mistakes of the past election."

Ohio, Indiana, Florida, Alabama, New Mexico Hold Primary Elections Tuesday

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Primary elections Tuesday in five states deal mostly with peculiarly local issues to the exclusion of the headline news of the day such as Indochina, McCarthy vs. Army and the Geneva conference.

The elections will take place in Ohio, Indiana, Florida, Alabama and New Mexico. Primaries already have been held in New Jersey and Illinois.

New Mexico's primary will be under conditions little changed from those of 1952 which produced charges of fraud and illegal voting after a $200,000 Senate investigation.

Gov. Edwin L. Mechem is unpopular in New Mexico's Republican senatorial primary and Democratic Sen. Clinton P. Anderson is unopposed for renomination. But there is an angry Republican factional fight in which rebellious young state legislators seek to break Mechem's hold on the state organization. Democratic candidates for New Mexico's two House seats at large are unopposed. There is a three-way Republican contest.

Ohio Republicans are in a factional fight over nomination of a candidate for the Senate seat held by the late Robert A. Taft. The state organization endorsed Rep. George H. Bender and he has the support of the Taft family newspaper, the Cincinnati Times-Star. Thirty-seven-year-old William Saxbe, a small town lawyer who is speaker of the Ohio Legislature, challenged organization designation of party candidates as "bossism" and announced for Taft's seat. He is supported by Robert A. Taft Jr. The contest has not aroused great public interest.

Sen. Thomas A. Burke, a Democrat named to succeed Taft, has no primary opposition. For the first time in 40 years, both major parties have named candidates for governor without primary contests. They are James A. Rhodes, former Republican mayor of Columbus, and Gov. Frank J. Lausche, Democrat, now serving an unprecedented fourth term. Also among those to be nominated are candidates for Ohio's 23 seats in the House of Representatives. The present division is 16 Republicans, 6 Democrats and 1 Independent.

There is no senatorial nor gubernatorial election in Indiana this year. Tuesday's primary is overshadowed by a battle for control of the Republican state organization. The contending leaders are Sens. Homer E. Capehart and William E. Jenner who oppose Gov. George N. Craig.

Ten Republicans and one Democrat seek renomination to Indiana's 11 House seats. House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck and four fellow Republicans are unopposed and the contested races are generally viewed in light of Indiana's recent habit of renominating its congressional delegation.

Senate Democrats already are on record against the administration program. They lined up 32 to 11 last Tuesday behind an unsuccessful move to tack onto a wool bill a provision to continue present high supports. Republicans beat the move with only a few votes to spare. But the real test will come later on the administration's farm price support bill.

Meanwhile, an informed source said House farm bloc leaders may write a "soil fertility bank" plan into their "single-package" 1954 farm bill.

The fertility bank program would be designed to control acres taken out of wheat, cotton and other major crops by federal production control orders.

If farmers are free to use these millions of "released acres" as they please, administration officials fear their efforts to cut cotton, wheat and corn surpluses will lead to new surpluses in the soil for future needs.

Alabama, Sen. John J. Sparkman, who campaigned in 1952 as Adlai E. Stevenson's vice presidential running mate, has the fight of his life for renomination against Rep. Laurie C. Battle. Adm. John Cromelin (ret.) also is a candidate. Sparkman supported a civil rights program in 1952 which was sufficiently unpopular in the South to divert several states to the Republican Eisenhower-Nixon ticket.

But former governor James E. (kissing Jim) Folsom's effort to return to the governor's chair is attracting most attention in Alabama.

The Western Allies still were far from agreement on a united policy for the Indochina peace talks. The exhausting conflict is far from popular in France and this feeling is likely to be reinforced if the besieged Indochina fortress of Dien Bien Phu falls to the Communists.

Death Takes Mrs. Alice Robinett, 75

Mrs. Alice Robinett, 75, died at her home, 1103 South Washington street, Saturday at 10 p. m.

She is survived by two sons, Loren English and James Robinett, both of Evansville, Ind.; one sister, Mrs. Volle Lamar, Harrisburg; four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The funeral was today at 2 p. m. at the Gibbons funeral chapel, Rev. W. L. Cummins officiated, and burial was in the Odd Fellows cemetery at Elizabethtown, where a brief graveside service was held at 3:45 p. m. Rev. L. E. Hard, Cave-in-Rock, officiated.

Pallbearers were Gladys Gibbs, John Dooley, Orval Reed, Wiley Burnam, Kenneth McDonald and Bruce Baker.

Four Marriage Licenses Issued Here; Seven of Eight from Eldorado

Court house employees today were wondering if Eldorado's Operation Bootstrap was delving into the field of romance also.

Four marriage licenses were issued at the court house over the week-end, and of the eight principals involved, seven were from Eldorado. The eighth is from Harrisburg.

Those getting marriage licenses: Jerry Bean, 22, and June Mathieu, 18, both of Eldorado; Jesse Lowe White, 20, and Phyllis Joann Gasaway, 18, both of Eldorado; Henry Morgan Frohock, 20, and Patricia Lone Moore, 20, both of Eldorado; James Bolatto, 32, Harrisburg, and Wilma McLain, 29, Eldorado.

Smith Takes Over For Dulles At Conference

Expect Indochina Peace Talks to Begin Wednesday, Thursday

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—Big Three leaders at the Geneva conference met today with the Viet Nam foreign minister and ironed out difficulties delaying talks on Indochina.

U. S. Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith took over from Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, as chief of the American delegation and attended the meeting at French headquarters.

Dulles, packing before taking off for Washington by way of Milan, did not go to the meeting which was attended by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and Viet Nam Foreign Minister Nguyen Quoc Dinh.

Dulles left for Milan by air at 12:20 p. m. to confer with Italian Premier Mario Scelba before returning to Washington.

Consent to Conference

In a farewell statement to the Geneva conference Dulles said the NATO principles of collective security should be applied in South-east Asia to protect free nations against new Communist aggression.

Shortly after the meeting Nguyen announced officially that his country had agreed to participate in an Indochina peace conference. Nguyen said that Viet Nam chief of state Bao Dai also had consented to sit down at the conference table with representatives of the Communist enemy in Indochina but that this did not imply recognition of the Reds.

Informed sources predicted that as a result of the talks with Nguyen the Indochina peace talks would begin by Wednesday or Thursday.

East-West negotiations on arrangements for the talks were virtually completed Sunday at a meeting between Jean Chauvel, French ambassador to Switzerland and Andrei Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister.

Informants said Chauvel told Gromyko France was sending invitations to the three Associated States of Indochina—Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos—and that all had given assurance they would accept.

Far from United Policy

The sources said Gromyko agreed the invitation to the Indochinese Communists would be signed only by Russia and not jointly with Communist China.

This was a basic point with the Allies because of their steadfast refusal to put the Peiping delegation on equal footing with the Big Four.

Carrier Mills Students Win State Ratings

Carrier Mills high school music students won one first place and four second place ratings in the state music contests held Friday and Saturday at Macomb.

Joann Henson received the first place rating in voice solo.

Second place ratings were won by Wanda Holloway, voice solo; Georgia McCutcheon, alto saxophone solo; drum quartet composed of Pat Milligan, Janice Harrawood, Sue Miller and Phyllis Bozarth and saxophone quartet composed of Carol Dunaway, Terry Gullledge, Wanda Holloway and Ron Culbreth. The voice contestants were accompanied at the piano by Larry Edwards and Mrs. Pearl Sherman.

Accompanying the students on the trip were Mrs. Nancy Steele, director of music at CMCHS, Mrs. Oather Dunway, Mrs. Bill Gullledge, Mrs. Bill Henson and Mrs. Ila Milligan.

The group did some sightseeing, making stops at New Salem State Park and at Lincoln's Tomb en route.

FHA Scandals Raise Issue
Of Federal Aid to Business

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—There is a far bigger issue to the current investigations of Federal Housing Administration irregularities than shows on the surface. It is how much of an "incentive" private business needs to do a public service job in the national interest?

A lot of words have been spouted to the effect that government should get out of all business-type activities and leave everything to private enterprise.

But the experience of government over the last 20 years has shown that unless private enterprise is guaranteed a handsome profit on public service it will not take the job.

THIS IS TRUE not only with regard to the various government housing programs, but to national defense and even farming.

It applies to the accelerated tax amortization plans in effect since the beginning of World War II.
They were considered necessary to provide business with an incentive to tackle defense production.

It applies to the huge depreciation allowances given oil and gas producers in one of the largest loopholes in existing tax law.

It applies to the huge subsidies given American ship builders and shipping line operators. These incentives are considered necessary to maintain an American merchant marine in peacetime so that it will be available for military transport in time of war. Proposed legislation now before Congress would even increase these incentives.

It applies also to the newly proposed incentives to business in pending tax reform legislation.
These incentives include a reduction of taxes on dividends, a change in depreciation allowance schedules for tax purposes, and tax reductions on income from foreign investments made in support of U. S. foreign policy to aid the economic development of friendly, non-Communist countries.

BIGGEST OF ALL the incentives given to private enterprise is of course the farm price support program. Price supports were originally introduced during the depression to assure farmers of a minimum income. The incentives were increased in wartime to guarantee the farmers high income for producing bumper crops for the war effort.

It is now virtually impossible to reduce these support-price levels, even though they provide an incentive to produce farm surpluses in excess of the demand, at a cost of billions of dollars to the taxpayers and at an actual waste.

The question on all these incentives is, how big do they have to be to make the so-called private enterprise system function?

The obvious answer is that no businessman or anybody else is going to risk money on an enterprise if he thinks he'll lose his shirt at
it. That is just plain horse sense.
But does there have to be an opportunity for unlimited profits by unscrupulous operators and racketeers?

THE ANSWER to the war profiteers of World War I was the re-negotiation act of World War II. It enabled the government to recapture excessive profits on defense contracts. It would seem to be no more than simple justice to provide a renegotiation clause for housing contractors receiving the benefits of government insured mortgages.

An examination of congressional hearings on the housing legislation now under investigation reveals that Congress knowingly made allowances for overgenerous profits to the building industry. This legislation was renewed by Congress in 10 different laws.

Listen to what ex-Congressman
Albert M. Cole (R., Kan.) said about this program in 1949: "I agree that a political football has been made out of these housing bills. But Titles I, II and VI of the FHA are not controversial. They

Fugitive Listed
One of 10 Most Wanted by FBI

WASHINGTON — A tattooed robber who "can shoot the buttons off your coat" and his accomplice wife today made the FBI's list of "10 most wanted fugitives."

Raymond Louis Owen Menard, 27, and his 25-year-old wife Delores Rose, are wanted in St. Louis on charges of fleeing prosecution for burglary in February.

The young couple are the last fugitive members of a robber gang that has operated in the St. Louis area over the past year. The gang was known for using masks made of baby diapers.

Menard reportedly has boasted that he will never be taken alive as long as he has a gun in his hand. He is regarded as an expert shot who "can shoot the buttons off your coat," the FBI said.

Menard, 5 feet, 5 inches tall and 140 pounds in weight, has gray eyes, brown hair and a ruddy complexion. He has numerous tattoos, including an American flag and "USA" on his left forearm, a dancing girl on his right forearm and a rose and banner labeled "Mother" on his other left upper arm.

His wife, a former nightclub dancer, is 5 feet 3 inches, 114 pounds in weight and has blue eyes, black hair, a swarthy com-

Where There's Smoke, They'll Plant Cigars

By WARD CANNEL
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — (NEA) — Among the best-kept secrets in America—and probably the whole world—is the changing role of the cigar. But it's all right if the vitality of this issue has escaped you.

A spot check of vital-issues centers and other street corners here reveals a thunderous calm on the whole matter.

The people who should be worried by this news are the members of the Cigar Institute of America—a non-philanthropic organization that yearly spends $400,000 to keep cigar smoke in the public eye.

It's no accident, for example, that George Burns smokes a cigar throughout his TV show. The CIA has reached him with a box of cheroots per week.

It's no mischance that hero-type Montgomery Clift smokes a cigar and gets the girl, too. The CIA has blazed a trail that is still smoking in Hollywood.

Nor is it a mistake that an MGM recording of "Cheap Cigars" by Jane Harvey was recalled from retail stores before music lovers could buy it. But because Miss Harvey does not smoke cigars,
the CIA exerted other pressures.

"Generally," said Institute president Walt K. Lyon, "men will bend at a box of cigars where they'd see red at a money gift."

For the most part, his organization stands like the traditional cigar store Indian—with hatchet raised, ready to pounce on unkind remarks. And most of their work has been done with counter blows.

Unlike sister outfits who spread unsolicited kindness about their products, the CIA waits until a cigar-nasty situation is published, photographed or televised. Then they rush to plead for mercy.
Hundreds of script writers, TV and movie prop men, cartoonists authors, editors and entertainers have known the gentle urgings and proffered panatellas of these cigar spokesmen.

For the nation is still unenlightened. Heroes continue to conquer only with pipe in mouth. Detectives are still squinting through their curling cigarette smoke. And in many quarters the cigar is reserved only for tycoon, shyster, hoodlum, boss, racketeer and phony types.

But if it happened to your script, cartoon or movie, you'd get a letter in the morning mail, signed by the CIA and reassuring you that you really hadn't meant a word of it.

After all, you'd be told, the cigar industry means bread and butter to 42,000 men, women and independent tobacco auctioneers.
You wouldn't want to leave them homeless, would you? And what about all those nice guys—your own uncle, maybe—who smoke cigars?

Support for this habit-forming program comes from an award-winning, nationally syndicated political cartoonist: "I once got a letter from them because I put a cigar in the mouth of a political boss. I can see their point of view and I haven't done it since."

But from the cartoon editor of a top circulation magazine, the smoke signals tell a different story.
"We ran a cartoon that they didn't like," he said. "So they sent me a nice letter and a box of the louisiest cigars I've ever smoked."

point his mother by never being Ford's new 130-h.p. Y-block V-8 is the most modern in the automobile industry... the only V-8 in the low-price field! And Ford's 115-h.p.

I-block Six is the industry's newest Six. Both of these engines give you the smoothest, savingest performance you've ever experienced.

You'll see more Fords parked in front of the finest homes and country clubs than any other car in its field. One reason is that many people who have owned the costliest cars realize that Ford offers the same beauty, quality and distinction—and for a far more practical price.

Ford is unsurpassed in riding comfort or ease of handling. A big reason is Ford's new Ball-Joint Front Suspension... which allows more total up and down front wheel travel for a smoother ride...
keeps front wheels in line longer... so handling stays easy longer.

Surveys show Ford cars return more of their original cost when they are sold than any competitive make. So a Ford car costs you less to own.

Over the latest seven-month period covered by available figures, Ford has been the nation's best seller. And that's because Ford has proved that it offers the most...
in engineering advancements—in trend-setting styling—in value! Ford is America's best seller because it's America's best buy!

Worth more
when you buy it...

Worth more
when you sell it!

'OPEN WIDER, PLEASE'—Five-day-old Darlene Lois Klawon, of Cleveland, Ohio, is a toothsome morsel of humanity. She was born with two teeth and it was decided she'd be better off without them. So here's Dr. Weldon G. Blodgett, preparing to yank the choppers.

Mrs. Beulah Price has returned to her home west of Harrisburg following a visit with her daughter and son in the east. Her daughter, Mrs. Beverly Schuler, visited here with her mother, who accompanied her home to Akron, Ohio. Following a visit there Mrs. Price went to Fort Monmouth, N. J., and visited her son, M-Sgt. William H. Mandrell, and family. Sgt. Mandrell, a veteran of 15 years' Army service, has just returned to the states following a two year tour of duty in Japan. Mrs. Price visited many places of interest along the Atlantic coast and saw the sights of New York City.

Mary Hollingsworth, Evansville, Ind., visited Mr. and Mrs. Luther Simpson, 19a West Church, over the week end.

Cadet Dan C. Brown, C. M. A., Columbia, Tenn., was home over the week end visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. V. Brown.

Beta Sigma Phi Sorority Has Annual Founder's Day Celebration Thursday Evening

Beta Sigma Phi sorority held its annual Founder's Day celebration at the Presbyterian church Thursday evening. Attending were members of the three local chapters, Beta Kappa, Xi Chi Exemplar and Xi Beta Omega Exemplar.

In a candlelight ceremony in the chapel, the Ritual of Jewels degree was conferred on Miss Wanda Burns, Mrs. Marvin Barnett, Mrs. Ronald Coon and Miss Margaret Toth. The pledge ritual was conferred on Mrs. Eugene Neihaus and Mrs. Jim Bolen. Cuba Turner presided at the organ during the ceremony.

Dinner was served in the church dining room following the ceremony, with Mrs. H. B. Bauman giving the Beta Sigma Phi grace. Mrs. Bauman is social sponsor of Beta Kappa chapter. Small flower pots containing ivy were given as favors.

Mrs. Clyde Dallas, president of Xi Chi chapter, welcomed the pledges, and Mrs. Jack Oats, retiring president of Beta Kappa chapter, read the poem, "Life is For Living," which was written by a Beta Sigma Phi member.

Mrs. John Schork gave the annual message from Walter Ross, founder of Beta Sigma Phi, and Mrs. Roger Johnson, president of Xi Beta Omega chapter, led the members in repeating the founder's day pledge.

Miss Burns, Mrs. Barnett, Mrs. Coon and Miss Toth sang, "Beta Sigma Phi We Love You," with piano accompaniment by Mrs. John Molinarolo, to whom a gift was presented in appreciation of her work as pledge captain.

Two junior high students, Charles Fulkerson and Roger Wiley, entertained with a duet. They were accompanied by Mrs. Clayton Slack, newly-elected president of Beta Kappa chapter.

Birthday Dinner Honors Former Residents

The birthdays of William Aluzas and daughters, Mrs. Hugh McDole and Mrs. Fern Powell, former residents of Harrisburg, were celebrated this month with a buffet dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McDole Jr., Walled Lake, Mich. Mr. Aluzas was 75 years old.

Present to enjoy the day were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McDole and son, Mike; Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Burl, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Cummins and children, Elizabeth, Carol and Ronnie; Roger Liberty, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McDole Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howe, Mrs. Fern Dixon and children and Mrs. George Dickens, all of Walled Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Powell and daughter, Laverne; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Donough and daughter, Debby, of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Price and children, Doris and Eddie; Mrs. Ethel Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Manier, all of Pontiac; Mr. and Mrs. William Aluzas, Mrs. Walter Aluzas and Mrs. Robert Scott, of Harrisburg; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McDole Jr. and children, Brenda and Danny.

Picnic by Bankston Training Union Class

The members of the adult Training Union class of the Bankston Fork Baptist church, along with their families, had a very enjoyable social at Karel park Friday evening, April 30.

The group met at the church and journeyed to Karel park by automobile where the ladies of the class prepared a very delicious meal, the main dish being fried hamburgers. After the prayer of thanks by the vice president, Don Wathen, the group enjoyed fellowship around the table.

Other plans had been made for the entertainment, but due to the heavy rainfall the class departed for their homes at 7:30 p. m.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Jesse J. Moore and daughter, Mary Louise; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Chaney, Mr. and Mrs. Edd Wiley, Mr. and Mrs. Quentin Swan and daughter, Shirley, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Thompson and children, Jesse Earl, Brenda Kay and Earline, Mr. and Mrs. Don Wathen and children, Robin, John, Dannie Joe and Van Alan, Fred Thompson and son, John, Linda Schwartz, Carlene McCormick, Patty Evans and the Rev. and Mrs. Paul E. Dann and children, Paul D. Marlen, and Jeanette.

Mrs. D. H. Hiller Returns From Mission Study Council Held at Birmingham, Ala.

Mrs. D. H. Hiller, State Mission Study chairman of the Baptist Woman's Missionary Union of Illinois, returned Thursday from Birmingham, Ala., where she had attended a three-day Mission Study council under the direction of Mrs. William McMurry, Southwide Mission Study chairman. The Mission Study chairmen from each of the states comprising the Southern Baptist Convention were assembled for the Council, which began with a luncheon at the Molton hotel on Tuesday, April 27. Sessions were held in the beautiful W. M. U. building, where the various phases of mission study work were discussed and promotional ideas exchanged.

Highlights of the meeting were talks by Miss Alma Hunt, executive secretary of W. M. U., who told of her visit to Brazil and the mission work there, and by Miss Juliette Mather, editor of Royal Service magazine, the official magazine of W. M. U., who told of her trip around the world, and her visits to the Baptist mission fields in the Orient.

On Wednesday afternoon members of the W. M. S. of the First Baptist church of Birmingham took the visitors for a beautiful drive over the city and the nearby mountains, returning to the home of Federal Judge and Mrs. Hobart Grooms for a delicious buffet supper.

Mrs. Hiller made the trip to and from Birmingham via Eastern Air Lines from Evansville, Ind.

Eldorado Students Win First, Two Seconds in Contest

Eldorado high school music students scored a first, two seconds and a third in the state music contest held at Illinois State Normal university Friday and Saturday.

A twirling ensemble of Joanne Hopkins and Carol Muckley received a first place rating and another twirling ensemble of Daria Mills and Linda Sontra received a second place rating.

Bill Coker was given a second place rating in boys' solo and the girls' octet received a third place rating. The octet was composed of Beth Minner, Ann Cuthbertson, Nettie Ghoslon, Frankie Davis, Betty Renshaw, Carol Muckley, Janice Wasson and Sandra Thomas and were accompanied by Mary Ann Read.

The students were accompanied to the contest by ETHEL Principal W. A. Knoop and Ed Creek Jr., director of music.

Pickets Close 22 Pennsylvania Non-Union Mines

SOMERSET, Pa.—More than 500 roving pickets closed 22 non-union mines today in a demonstration sparked by the Cambria Fuel Company's decision to junk its contract with the United Mine Workers.

The union miners patrolled in automobiles for more than four hours along roads leading to the non-union mines and questioned all persons about their business in the area.

State police reported no disorders, however, and most of the pickets withdrew shortly before noon, satisfied that none of the mines would work today.

The mines picketed included 19 deep and three strip operations, employing an estimated total of 350 men. Union sources indicated the pickets would be on duty again Tuesday morning and would keep the non-union diggings shut down indefinitely.

Sherman Pupils Receive Ratings

Mrs. P. W. Sherman accompanied her music students to Macomb, Ill. over the week end where a state music contest was being held and where there were over 3,000 present.

In the contest, which was all high school work, Joann Henson, Carrier Mills, won a superior rating in vocal, and Wanda Jean Holway, Carrier Mills, won an excellent rating in the vocal contest.

Diana Mathis, Raleigh, a student of Mrs. Sherman who was attending a state contest in Normal, Ill., over the week end, received excellent ratings in piano and marimba.

Centralia Man is Named to State Library Committee

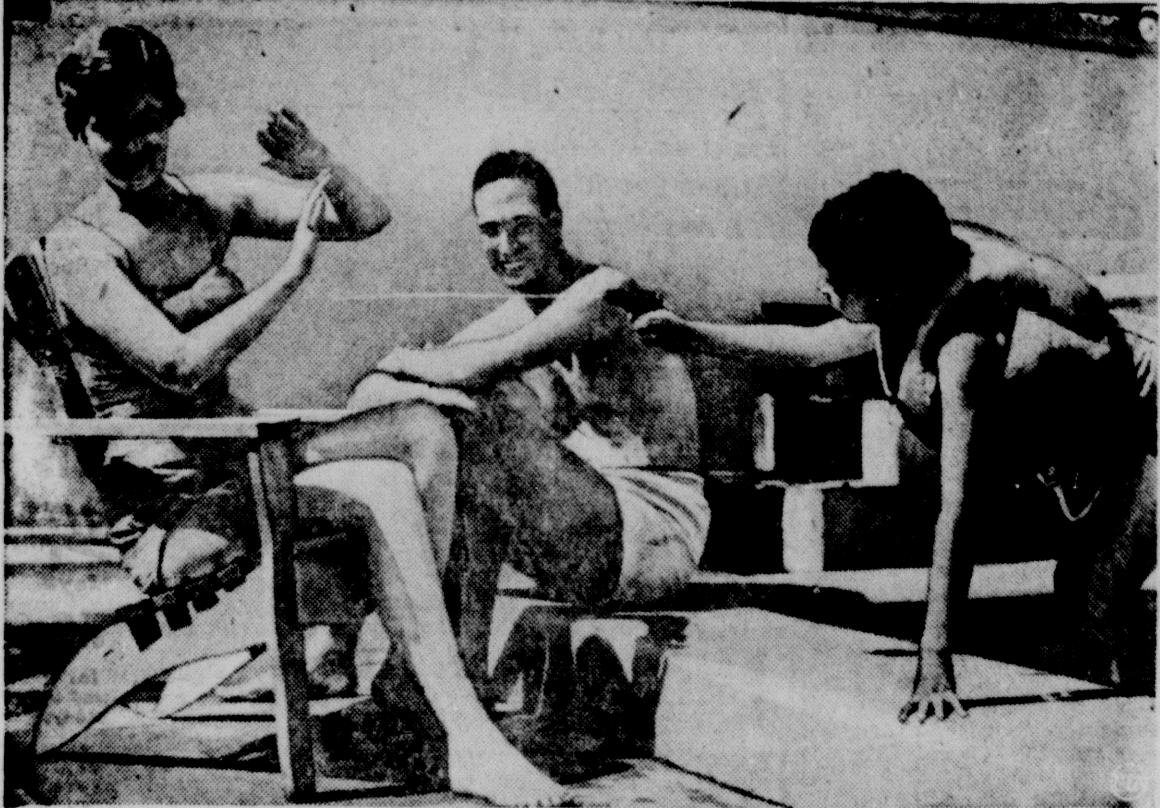

SPRINGFIELD—William C. Stephens, Centralia, today was named to the Illinois State Library Advisory Committee.

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter said Stephens will represent a 19-county Southern Illinois area.

He will complete the unexpired term of Irving Dillard, Collinsville. The term lasts to Dec. 31, 1956.

Carpenter said Dillard, editor of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch editorial page, informed him he was severing connections with public and semi-public bodies because he feels he shouldn't be a member of an official body whose position I may need either to criticize or support editorially.

Stephens, an attorney, is a native of Danville and formerly lived here.

Nancy and Jim followed Mrs. Hughes into an immaculate and cozy living room which smelled of floor polish and showed signs of recent, thorough cleaning.

"Now, let's see," Mrs. Hughes said. "This is the last room. Everything's clean. I have the notes here to leave in the linen closet so—my husband can find things. And then there's the note for..." She sat down suddenly, and tears came from her eyes.

Mrs. Hughes dried her eyes with a tiny handkerchief. "I'm sorry," she apologized. "I thought I was ready. I didn't think I'd be so silly. And I do appreciate your waiting until I could get my house in order."

Nancy darted a questioning look at Dunn. He nodded. Nancy went over and sat down beside the older woman. She said, "Tell me about it." She read the flash of suspicion in Mrs. Hughes' eyes correctly. "And it's not for publication. It's important to me."

Mrs. Hughes hesitated, took a deep breath and began to talk. The words, bottled up for so long a time, spilled out in a steady torrent.

"Some time ago, Ed Stone came to me and said he was worried about his son's seeing so much of Gaylord Mansfield. You may not know it, but over two years ago, Mansfield had suggested that Eddie be sent to a home. He had only mentioned it once, but Ed Stone never forgot. Ed told me he had installed microphones in Mansfield's study and bedroom when he had been doing the soundproofing work. Mansfield talked to himself when he was alone, and he was apt to talk in his sleep."

Mrs. Hughes found a small handkerchief and pulled it back and forth through her fingers. "I made my first mistake then. I didn't believe Ed had reason to worry, and I humored him without saying anything to my husband."

Jim Dunn could understand and appreciate the fact that Mayor Stone's life had been worry-ridden since the time it had become evident that Eddie was not normal. Stone could not know whether his son's association with Mansfield was a good thing, a companionship and diversion to be appreciated, or something quite different. Something which made it imperative for Stone to know, even to the length of his installing the eavesdropping microphones, which Mrs. Hughes found him if Mansfield seeking evidence to have Eddie sent away.

"Ed put the receiving end of the microphones up in the tower room. Nash, the upstairs roomer, was always away nights, so there was no trouble about getting up there, and Eddie wouldn't be curious about the contraption. Eddie wanted a television and he'd have believed that was it." Mrs. Hughes looked at her shredded handkerchief. "We still haven't a local television station you know."

Jim realized she was putting off a part of her story as long as possible.

"I humored him," she smiled wryly. "I suppose it was partly because only his son was involved. And then, I guess it was a month ago, Ed phoned me he'd overheard Mansfield talking about big losses on the stock market. It was then Mansfield started reciting parts of my son's play."

"I heard him recite a part," Jim said. "When I was giving him a transfusion in the hospital."

She nodded slowly. "It's hard to explain the way we felt. You see, it was only instinct told us something was wrong. The whole play was a great favorite of Eddie's. He saw only the side dealing with magic and wishes granted and fairies. What could we prove wrong in the fact Gaylord Mansfield took the trouble to learn a fairy story to tell to Eddie Stone?"

"I told Ed we were just driving ourselves crazy over nothing, that the listening, the eavesdropping was making us worse. He agreed, decided to cut the wires and take the equipment back to his shop; the very next day."

"But the next day, there was the wedding. And there was the murder of Chief Drover. I fainted when I heard the news."

She put the pieces of her handkerchief away. "The real nightmare was just beginning. When my husband and I left the Holt house and the wedding reception, he was going to drive me home. But the car was not in the same place I had left it. Not quite. It was there, the keys still in it and the motor warm, but not in the same place. But, you know, our son was here for the wedding and so we thought he had borrowed it. When I got home I found Tony using a ball-point pen. I noticed the initials G. W. on it."

She made a visible effort and rolled her thoughts away, took up the thread of her story.

We might have found out everything, if we had questioned Eddie. We didn't. We did not realize just how much he was living in a fairy-story world. We talked instead of the microphones, their removal. When Eddie went to sleep, Ed Stone pried up a piece of molding, cut the wires so they dropped down in a roll he didn't think could be traced easily. I waited downstairs while he went up and cut the wires above. I pulled on the piece but it wouldn't come lose. He cleaned up our traces, but he left the equipment up there for removal later. You, Mr. Dunn, were on the stairs the next night when he started down with it."

Lucky Horseshoe 4-H Club Elects Officers

The Lucky Horseshoe 4-H Agriculture club, consisting of four girls and six boys, met Thursday night at the home of their leader, Earl Prather. Their main purposes were to re-organize and elect officers. The following officers were elected: President, Jimmie Carnett; vice president, Jimmie Harbison; secretary, Dorothy Harbison; reporter, Donald Harbison; treasurer, Ollie Carnett; recreation leader, Regina Locklear; federation delegate, Robert Elliott; and song leader, Sandra Harbison.

A talk was given by Marvin Mullinix, 4-H adviser, on how to have a successful 4-H.

The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served. Afterwards everyone went outside and enjoyed some wholesome group recreation.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Charles Aydelott on May 6 at 7:30 p. m.

HOLLYWOOD TODAY!

MOVIES - TV - RADIO
by Erskine Johnson

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Exclusively Yours: Marlene Dietrich's talented chick, Maria Riva, is C. B. DeMille's No. 1 choice for the role of Moses' wife in "The Ten Commandments." The Charles Laughton-Elsa Lanchester marriage, no matter what denials are made, is hanging by a slender thread. Virginia Grey, who missed death by inches in an auto crash, has been given the green light to resume her career. Brad Dexter, who isn't her ex yet, is re-wooing Peggy Lee. Neither will comment on a reconciliation plan.

"SASKATCHEWAN," the Shelley Winters-Alan Ladd costarrer, is a click in Canada, but the studio's blushing over editorial comment about the film. Sample comment in the Saskatoon Star-Phoenix:

"Atrocious, a travesty of historical fact and an insult to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police."

BOB STACK and Claudette Thorton talked it over and decided to call off the romance. Janet Leigh, miffed because she missed out on "Helen of Troy" and "The Egyptian," won't re-sign with MGM when her contract expires after "Rogue Cop."

TERRY MOORE, who's decided that a doll can have too much publicity, isn't showing up at the niteres or at premieres. Her Fox bosses aren't happy about the premiere dodging.

RHONDA FLEMING and Lance Fuller aren't showing up at the brighter spots, but their frequent dates spell out one of the reasons she'll shed her doctor hubby. Debbie Reynolds canceled her European trip just in case she nabs the Ado Annie role in "Oklahoma!"

FLORENCE HALOP, Milli's mom, will be out of the cast of TV's "Meet Millie" for three weeks while she keeps her stork date. The writers will explain that mama sprained her ankle.

GLORIA DE HAVEN and her ex, John Payne, have settled the custody fight over their children out of court. The children will join Gloria in New York for a year of schooling after she winds up "So This Is Paris" at U-I.

BING CROSBY hits the 50-year mark May 2. He's off to Europe but has promised CBS he'll be back on the airways come next fall. Edgar Bergen's Charlie McCarthy referred to a visiting comedian as "the guy with the winning smile and the losing face."

BOB HOPE told his radio audience that he's been having a terrible recurring dream. He dreams that it's 1974 and Joe DiMaggio keeps saying, "I've got to go home to the old battle-axe."

Bob's daytime radio show was pink-slipped, but he'll continue the nighttime version.

ERROL FLYNN and Bruce Cabot, once the staunchest pals, are as far apart as Barbara Hutton and Zsa Zsa Gabor. The Damon-Pythias friendship went up in smoke when Errol scrapped "William Tell" and took Cabot off the payroll.

WATCH OUT, Eddie Fisher and Guy Mitchell. Now it's Tony Curtis who will wax records for the Decca label. Lana Turner, the one MGM star who has never been lent to another studio, is asking her bosses to change their policy. She's losing out on roles that she hankers to play.

MICHAEL REDGRAVE, the British star whose movie career tobagganed after the ill-fated "Mourning Becomes Electra," makes his comeback in a new English film, "The Sea Shall Not Have Them." It's described as another "Cruel Sea."

Name of Gregory Peck's leading lady in "The Purple Plain" is Win Min Than, a 21-year-old Buddhist beauty from India. She'll make marquee look like a tote board.

DANNY THOMAS during the warmup for "Make Room for Daddy": "Failure is a horrible thing and what a pity it is that we have to work so hard to achieve it."

Composer Dies

HOLLYWOOD — Funeral services will be held Tuesday for composer Arthur James Johnston, creator of "Pennies from Heaven" and "Cocktails for Two." Johnston, 55, died in St. Vincent's hospital here Saturday following a lengthy illness.

His other better-known song hits included "Just One More Chance," "Thanks a Million," and "Down the Old Ox Road." He also was credited with several motion picture scores.

Derby Winner Determine to Run in Preakness

No Attempt for Triple Crown by Gray Champion

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — There will be no Triple Crown for Determine, but the little gray Kentucky Derby champion will be given plenty of chances to prove his greatness.

That was the word from trainer Willie Molter today, as he permitted Determine to loaf in his stall at Churchill Downs where on Saturday he stormed from behind to win the 80th and richest Derby.

Molter said Determine would be shipped to Pimlico "in a day or two" to get ready for the May 22 Preakness, the second "jewel" in the turf's Triple Crown.

But Determine never was nominated for the Belmont Stakes, the third "jewel," so has no chance of taking all of the big three. Molter explained that, after the Preakness, Determine will be shipped back to California, his home base, to get ready for the Western Stakes at Hollywood Park.

Molter is aware that many turf experts, while impressed by Determine's stretch run in the Derby, are holding off on calling him "great" until they see him run some more against top-quality horses. The trainer says they'll get to see those races — that there definitely is no thought of retiring Determine soon.

Rough Race "Why," asked Molter with a big grin, "Why would I want my big meal ticket retired?"

Among the jockeys, a lot of the post-Derby talk centered around the roughness of the race and most of them agreed the 1954 Derby was one of the toughest in history. Determine survived early jostling to move up and pass Hasty Road at the head of the homestretch and win by a length and a half.

But most of the jockeys say they expected a rough race with a 17-horse field. Ray York, the San Diego jockey who applied the whip at the final turn and "beat the devil" out of Determine, asked, "When don't you have a rough race when you have such a big field?"

Timely Tip, who lugged in to cause a jamup at the start, and Hasty Road, the pacemaker, were blamed for much of the bumping. Howard Craig, up on Timely Tip, admitted his mount lugged. "He's always doing it," he said. "He wants to run on the rail." Hasty Road was accused of bearing out.

Group to Name Athletes in GI Coddling Probe

WASHINGTON — A House subcommittee plans to make public the service records of 10 big-name sports figures in connection with its investigation of alleged coddling of GI athletes.

Chairman William E. Hess (R-Ohio) said he is not criticizing the athletes who benefited from favored treatment but he strongly objects to the system that makes such favoritism possible.

The subcommittee's hearings will open Wednesday and be open to the public.

Sports figures whose records the Hess subcommittee will examine first, and highlights of what it will seek to establish in each case were reported by committee sources to include:

Willie Mays, center fielder for the New York Giants; basic training delayed so he could play camp baseball; discharged three months early so he could return to his club for the spring training season.

Whitey Ford, New York Yankee pitcher; retained at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., to play baseball.

O'Brien's Play Basketball Chico Vejar, a contender for the welterweight boxing title; serving at Ft. Benning, Ga.; despite schooling through the first year of college was classified as laborer and assigned to clean dayroom and gymnasium; fought six bouts (some of them benefits) between last October and February, flying his own plane to and from camp on leaves up to 12 days. Recently injured when plane crashed.

John and Edward O'Brien, former West Coast college basketball stars, later under baseball contract to the Pittsburgh Pirates, now classified as librarian and clerk typists at Aberdeen Proving Ground, where they play basketball.

Alexander J. Konikowsky, Giants pitcher; classified as light weapons infantryman but retained at Ft. Myer, Va., where he played on post team; released three months early to start professional baseball season.

Richard S. Brodowsky, Boston Red Sox pitcher; assigned at Ft. Dix, N. J., as light vehicle driver and utility repairman, played on post team; in season relieved of duty at noon and excused from KP and guard duties.

An inventor has perfected an excavation drier for contractors plagued with water-filled holes. The device consists of a series of probes driven into the ground near the excavation. The probes suck moisture from the ground and thus prevent water from seeping into the excavation. It works, unattended, even over week ends.

Stan Musial Shoots for 7th Batting Crown

By STAN MOCKLER
ST. LOUIS — Stan Musial, scourge of National League pitchers, today had three new jewels ready to set in the seventh batting crown he is shooting for this season.

The man, whose hitting feats for the St. Louis Cardinals have left little room for first-time honors, hit the bullseye Sunday by belting five home runs in a doubleheader against the New York Giants.

He broke one major league record with five homers in a doubleheader, tied another with the five in two consecutive games and hit three home runs in one game for his first time in the majors.

Musial drove in nine runs in the two games but the Cardinals had only an even break, winning the first game 10-6 as Stan rapped three round-trippers and dropping the second 9-7 despite his last two.

"I've had other big days, but this was the best," Musial said. "How many days am I behind Ruth?" he quipped with a big grin. Seated in the dressing room, he ran down the pitches which he whacked for the record-breaking day.

In the first game, his first two homers came off lefthander Johnny Antonelli, the third off relief pitcher Jim Hearn.

"The first one was a change-up, then a fastball, then a slider. At least, that's what I think. In the second game, I hit one on the slow curve and the other on a knuckleball — both off Hoyt Wilhelm."

Far ahead of the weak start that bobbled him in his bid for the batting championship last year, Musial gave Manager Eddie Stanky credit for his roaring getaway of this season.

"He played me in more spring games and helped me sharpen up faster," Stand said. "I really feel better at the plate this year and I think that's the reason."

Musial Hits Five Homers In Doubleheader; Sets Two New Records, Ties Another

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

Stan (The Man) Musial can't get into the Hall of Fame until he finally takes off that Cardinal uniform for the last time, but the slender slugger from Donora, Pa., is certain to move in there with the immortals some day.

Manly Stanley, who already has his name in the official Red Book of baseball 12 times with batting achievements, added three more little lines of type into the statistics Sunday when he crashed five home runs in a doubleheader.

As the Cardinals defeated the Giants, 10-6, then lost 9-7, the Duke from Donora drilled three home runs and a single in the first game and added two more homers in the second. That gave him the mark over six players who previously had hit four homers in the most total bases for a doubleheader, 21, and a tie for the record of five homers in two games.

Other Homers In the opener, Musial drove in six runs and his final homer with two men on base snapped a 6-6 tie and clinched the victory. Rookie Wally Moon and Tom Alston also hit first game St. Louis homers.

In the second game Ray Jablonski homered for the Cardinals and Bobby Hofman got one for the Giants while Monte Irvin, Whitey Lockman, and Wes Westrum hit first game New York round-trippers to no avail. The Giants made eight runs in the fourth inning to clinch the nightcap.

The Pirates also racked up eight runs in the first inning to defeat the Cubs, 18-10, after losing, 5-3, while the Phillies edged Cincinnati, 4-3. In the American league the White Sox blanked the A's 4-0 behind Don Johnson's two-hit pitching, then lost 2-1, while Cleveland won a pair from Washington 6-4, 6-3, to make it six wins in a row. The Yankees outpointed Detroit 12-4, then lost 4-0 in five innings.

Sauer Hits Three Homers Pittsburgh had its best batting spree of the year, in its victory at Chicago, hammering seven pitchers for 18 hits including homers by Frank Thomas and Bob Skinner. Thomas also hit three doubles and batted seven consecutive hits in the two games.

Hank Sauer had three homers for Chicago, giving him eight for the year and the major league lead. In the opener, lefty Paul Minner scattered nine hits for his second win for the Cubs. Jerry Lynch homered for the Pirates. In the second game Ernie Banks and Bob Talbot also had Chicago homers.

The Phils topped the Reds as Willie Jones doubled home what proved to be the winning run in the seventh after Del Ennis homered in the sixth. Bob Miller pitched four-hit relief ball for five innings for the win. The second game was rained out. Brooklyn at Milwaukee also was rained out.

Reynolds Wins in Relief

Lefty Bill Hoelt pitched one-hit ball for the five-inning darkness shortened nightcap at New York, yielding only a double to Andy Carey with two out in the fifth. Ray Boone hit a Detroit homer. In the opener the Yankees made the most hits of any game this year, 13, and doubled their previous high in runs with the even dozen achieved on a six-run third inning rally when 12 men went to bat and four more runs in the sixth. Allie Reynolds pitched two-hit relief ball for his first victory.

Wally Westlake hit a three-run double in the 10th to give Cleveland its second victory. Art Houtteman pitched a six hitter, after rookie Ray Ivarieski won his first big league victory in the opener in relief of Bobby Feller.

Johnson pitched the third straight shutout for the White Sox in the opener in which Bill Wilson and Al Carrasquel hit homers. In the second game Elmer Valo singled home the winning run for Philadelphia with a pinch-hit after Bill Renna singled and moved to second on a sacrifice.

The Baltimore at Boston doubleheader was rained out.

Sunday's Star: Stan (The Man) Musial of the Cardinals who hit five home runs in a doubleheader for a new all time major league mark as St. Louis won, 10-6 then lost to the Giants 9-7.

Archie Dees Undecided About Which College to Attend, He Tells Caray

Archie Dees, all-state basketball player from Mt. Carmel, hasn't decided where he will go to college and probably won't decide until after the North-South All Star basketball game played at Murray State.

Dees was interviewed by Harry Caray during the St. Louis-New York baseball games Sunday and told Caray he was still undecided about the college he would attend.

Caray got in a plug for St. Louis U., reminding Dees it is a good school and also a big name in basketball circles.

Orient Mine 2 To Resume Work After Shutdown
WEST FRANKFORT, Ill. — Orient Coal Mine No. 2 began preparations today to resume operations after a two-month shutdown.
Mine Superintendent Earl Snarr said he expected the mine would start hoisting coal again Tuesday or Wednesday. When the mine shut down in February it employed about 600 miners.
Snarr denied reports that Orient No. 1, also owned by the Chicago, Wilmington & Franklin Corp., would shut down after Orient No. 2 reopened.
He also discredited reports that CW&F planned to sink a new mine shaft near Logan in Franklin county.

Postpone Auto Insurance Hearing
SPRINGFIELD — The State Insurance Department today postponed to June 1 a hearing on whether physical damage premium rates of 240 Illinois auto insurance firms should be cut.
The hearing on an order citing the National Automobile Underwriters Assn. to show cause why the companies it represents should not cut rates originally was set for Tuesday.
State Insurance Director Robert E. Barrett said the postponement was granted to give the NAUA time to prepare rate statistics.
Barrett said he understood the association is drawing up a new schedule providing reduced rates. If this schedule is filed and it cuts rates at the department feels statistics indicate they should be cut, the June 1 hearing will be called off, Barrett said.

Indicted Union Official Posts $25,000 Bond
EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. — Two officials of the AFL operating engineers union at Terre Haute, Ind., have been indicted for extorting $1,000 from contractors on a railroad spur project at the Illinois Power Co. installations in Danville, Ill.
Contents of the indictments, returned by a federal grand jury here Thursday, were revealed by the United States attorney's office today following the arrest of Orell Soucie, international representative of three operating engineers locals at Terre Haute.
The other defendant, Orville (Dusty) Rhodes, business agent of one of the locals, has notified the U. S. attorney he will surrender and post bond at Danville.
Soucie was released on $25,000 bond after his appearance before a U. S. commissioner at Terre Haute late Friday.
The indictment charged that Soucie and Rhodes threatened to call strikes and "featherbed" the power company job if contractor Leon B. Stille, Golconda, Ill., refused to pay them $1,000. The indictment said Stille paid the money in "fear" that he would not be able to complete the job.
The alleged offense occurred Oct. 6, 1952, when Stille was engaged in building a spur for the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad into the power company property. Stille was a subcontractor on the job under Edgar Stephens & Sons Inc., contractors at Cairo, Ill.

An attachment for automobile engines has been developed that weeds off some of the exhaust gas, decomposes water in the exhaust, then recirculates the mixture to the engine. This can yield up to a 50 per cent saving in gasoline consumption with no loss of engine power.
Copies of the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence, among other articles, were placed in the cornerstone of the Washington Monument when it was laid.

Funeral Services Held Today for Mrs. Theodore Hall
The funeral of Mrs. Willie Ann Hall, Harrisburg resident who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ruby Gogue, Thompsonville, Saturday at 9 a. m., was today at 2 p. m. at the North America church. Rev. Alvie Daily, assisted by the Rev. James Upchurch, officiated, and burial was in the Masonic cemetery near Raleigh.
Mrs. Hall, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, had been seriously ill for the past year, and her death was due to a cerebral hemorrhage. Her husband, Theodore Hall, preceded her in death March 30, 1937.
She is survived by five daughters, Mrs. Austin (Ruey) Moore, RFD 1, Harrisburg, Mrs. Elvive (Blondell) Williams, Galatia, Mrs. Roy (Afton) Cloud, Peoria, Mrs. Jess (Mable) Clarida, RFD 1, Harrisburg, Mrs. Robert (Ruby) Gogue, Thompsonville, and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Mattie Smith, Pontiac, Mich., Mrs. Jamie Webber, Galatia, Mrs. Carrie Jones, Raleigh, Joe Miller, Centralia, and Clark Miller, Silver City, N. M.; 15 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.
Three sons, Leslie, Lefe, and Furman, three brothers and one sister, preceded her in death.
She was a member of the Raleigh Baptist church.
The Gaskins funeral home was in charge of the funeral.

Ickes Article Tells of Battle on Supreme Court

WASHINGTON — The late Harold L. Ickes once accused former Vice President John Nance Garner of "double-crossing" the Roosevelt administration by "scuttling" the Supreme Court "packing" bill of 1937.
Ickes, interior secretary under President Roosevelt, told the story of the court fight in the second volume of his heretofore secret diary written during the turbulent days of the New Deal.
After a bitter struggle in the summer of 1937, Congress rejected the late President Roosevelt's request for authority to expand the court from nine to 15 members.
Despite this action, Ickes wrote, Garner and congressional leaders later worked out a compromise which would have added two justices. But Garner then started to "trade" with the President, Ickes said.
"As I get it," he wrote, Garner "offered to put through this compromise if the President would agree to terms he sought to impose with respect to labor and relief."
Ickes did not enlarge on his reference to labor and relief, but, he continued, "the President refused and Garner went back and ditched the whole program."
Ickes, known as the "old curmudgeon," wrote that Garner "knows in his heart that he... is a double-crosser."
